

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0041] A brassiere for supporting a wearer's breasts has 5 breast cups with each of the breast cups connected to a central panel therebetween. The brassiere has a pair of side panels. Each side panel is connected to a different one of the pair of breast cups. The breast cups have a first fabric layer, a second fabric layer and a third fabric layer that is 10 between the first fabric layer and the second fabric layer.
The third fabric layer provides breathability and support to the wearer's breasts.